

Good Evening Cross Families,

One of my goals is to make sure that the greater school community and potential families know about all the great things that are happening at Cross. One of the ways to accomplish this is through social media. So please use the links below to follow Cross on social media, and if your extended family wants to stay connected, invite them as well. You can also just search Cross PTO on the various platforms.

Also, the PTO and I are reaching out for help. We can't possibly be at all the events at Cross, but you as parents and students are at all the events. We are hoping to enlist your manpower in taking pics and sending them to Brooke Cornwell, our Communications Director for the PTO. So take pictures, or short videos (no more than 15 seconds) and e-mail them to crosspto.commdirector@gmail.com. Please provide a short description so we can easily post them from multiple sources.

I do quite a bit of my professional reading through Twitter, and it is a great place to stay current with new articles, inspired with student stories, and learn about effective practices across the country. It truly opens up a professional network. Periodically, in the Cross Connections I will share a good follow, or great links to check out. Here are some of my recommendations:

George Couros

Eric Sheninger

Dr. Justin Tarte

You may see some of these educators retweeted from our Cross PTO Twitter Account.

Thank you for helping spread the word about the great things happening at Cross.

Mr. Gutierrez
