

HAPPY NEW YEAR, 2023!

January is the month of wonder! This month we are learning about the reading strategy of visualization and how it can help us to become better readers.

Our CIPA lessons this month will be focusing on how we can balance our online/offline lives. Each grade level will get a lesson specifically for them.

Books I am recommending this month include: The Marvels by Brian Selznick, Wonder by R.J. Palacio, Earth, a Dorling Kindersly non-fiction book written by Susanna Van Rose and Elon Musk by Margaret G. Goldstein.

Are you interested in classic cars? I have two books available to check out on the display table, both titles filled with wonder: Classic American Cars: An Illustrated Guide and Classic Car: The Definitive Visual History.

Before school we are listening to Stuntboy, In the Meantime by Jason Reynolds in the library. Students are welcome to come to listen to the story and create drawings from 7:45-8:10. We have room for less than 20 students, so it's first come, first served!
